Air Force Information Technology Conference

28-31 Aug 2000

Combating Computer Terrorism

Welcome AFITC 2000

Headquarters Standard Systems Group (HQ SSG) is proud to sponsor the 14th annual Air Force Information Technology Conference (AFITC) 2000. This year, more than 3,500 participants will be able to take advantage of several fantastic keynote speakers, more than 160 in-depth technical seminars and workshops, and a vendor exhibition hall with more than 150 companies showcasing the latest in today's information technology.

HQ SSG gears the AFITC specifically towards Air Force computer users, developers, and managers who identify and define their requirements for information technology capabilities of tomorrow. HQ SSG focuses on exploiting the direction of information technology so AFITC participants can stay current on up-to-date technologies and learn of future industrusty offererings and advances. This is the customer's opportunity to meet with industry leaders, address specific organization issues, and see the latest technology.
